

Hazard, John Newbold. Law Student Life in Moscow: The Letters and Course Notes of John N. Hazard, 1934-1939: Materials for the History of the Soviet Legal System. Zug, Switzerland, IDC, 1978. 40 fiches.

COVERAGE The collection includes a set of letters written from 1934-1939 by John N. Hazard to the Institute of Current World Affairs, during his sojourn in the Soviet Union, first as a law student and later as a visitor. Hazard was the first Anglo-American Harvard Law College graduate to pursue the full course of legal studies then being offered in Moscow. The collection also includes his course lecture and seminar notes: most of these are in English with key terms in Russian. These documents offer a unique portrait of Soviet life and legal education of that time period.

ACCESS The collection is organized in two parts. Consult the printed guide available in the Microtext Section, Robarts Library for the contents. To request an item give the call number, the author and the title.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC ACCESS Law Student Life in Moscow: The Letters and Course Notes of John N. Hazard, 1934-1939: Materials for the History of the Soviet Legal System [Guide]. Zug, Switzerland, IDC, 1978.

FORMAT Microfiche

CALL NUMBER mfe/K/H393 MICR

LOCATION Microtext Section, Robarts Library

SUBJECT 1. Hazard John N., 1909 -- Law Student Life in Moscow. 2. Hazard, John Newbold, 1909 -- Correspondence. 3. Law -- Russia -- History and Criticism. 4. Law Students -- Soviet Union -- Indexes. 5. Law -- Study and Teaching -- Soviet Union -- Indexes. 6. Student activities -- Soviet Union -- Indexes